

KANSAS CYCLONE HAS ARRIVED

Says She Will Visit the Lowest Dive in Janesville.

SALOONS WATCHED

Aunt and Her Little Hatchet May Find Trouble if She Looks.

FUN IS IMMINENT

"Yes I'll probably go out after I get through speaking this afternoon. I want to see the bad places in the city, the worst dives you have got." So answered "Aunt" Carrie Nation when questioned as to her plans for the day in Janesville.

"It is the lowest down places that you have, the ones that are fixed up in the finest style, they are the ones that are the worst. And if you have any of them here I want to see them. If there is anything wrong going on I want to know about it, and do what I can to show it up and put a stop to it."

Mrs. Carrie Nation of Kansas arrived in the city on the 10:35 train on the St. Paul road this morning. She immediately was taken to the Cornueau Hotel, at her expressed wish that she should be at a temperance house. "It isn't safe for me to be in a place where men are drinking beer, wine and whiskey," she said when questioned as to her motives, "when men get under the influence of rum you can never tell what they will do. Hotel keepers are generally nothing but bar tenders anyway, and everyone in the hotel is pressed into the work. Why," and Carrie raised her pudgy little hand with a gesture of indignation, "they have these little bell boys carrying whiskey up and down stairs for them, and even those pretty young girls, the waitresses, have to carry the vile stuff. I can nearly always smell a saloon the minute I get in a hotel." Here Mrs. Nation, sniffed very disgustingly and went on.

An Example

"You saw the Milwaukee paper this morning about the time I had at Madison, yesterday? Of course, they exaggerated it. These newspaper men always do. But then I don't care. They are the best help I have in my work. What I want is to get men to thinking and when they are once started thinking they will generally think right. The thing is to get agitated. That is my forte. That is why I smashed that glass of beer in the saloon yesterday.

"When the man offered me that glass of beer in the saloon, why I just took it and thanked him. Then I raised it up in the air and I said: 'Now, my dear I am going to do with this just what I want you to do,' and I smashed it down on the floor.

Everyone Frightened

"I'll tell you everyone there was scared. They didn't know what was going to break loose next. And then the clerk told me that he couldn't have any more of that, and I told him I'd leave his hotel. Then I went to a good prohibition house, the Fess. They told me that there wasn't a temperance hotel in the place, but God intended me to find one and that is the reason that I was turned out of the Van Etta."

"Up at LaCrosse I had another experience in the hotel. There were some men right there in the dining room drinking beer, and I knew it wasn't safe to be there, so I just got up and walked out. I told them I wasn't going to eat in a bar-room."

Speaking Today

Mrs. Nation, who is speaking at the Athletic grounds this afternoon, when seen in her room in the Cornueau house shortly after her arrival, was attired in a closely fitting linen travelling suit, looking cool and comfortable, and giving no indication of the weariness which she said that she felt. She is short, rather fleshy woman, with a kindly face. Her voice is not at all what would be expected of the "Kansas cyclone" of renown. In her conversational voice one can hardly imagine her addressing a large audience, but she appears to be a woman who carefully husbands her strength. Speaking of this she said that she was very careful never to taste any tea or coffee or anything that would tear down her nervous system.

She remarked that she was at present very tired and wished a good rest before her two addresses at four o'clock and eight. And there is no wonder that she feels a certain degree of exhaustion.

Not a Bad Town

Mrs. Nation went on to tell how she had gone out "stunning" last night in Madison. With a party of reporters she made the rounds of the "joints," in the place but to her great disappointment she could find no "really bad places." At LaCrosse she had simply revelled in the wickedness that abounded there.

She then gave her reasons for her smashing methods, and for searching out these "holes of vice," as she expressed her determination to do in this city, today. "It is all for the object lesson that I break these things. You see I never break anything that is good. I want to let the people see that what I am breaking does damage if it is allowed to remain undestroyed. You destroy the beer and you save the man; you save the beer and you destroy the man. I am going to keep on with the agitation."

A Nervous Woman

Agitation is the key word of Mrs. Nation's methods. She has made a little pun on the word in her present sale of hatchets which she calls the "great hatchettitation." At Madison she sold out her entire stock of hatchets which she carried with her, and so she had a new box shipped here which she began on today. The charges for the box which contains a good many hundred were $9.40. When Proprietor Cornueau entered the room with a hatchet to open the box Carrie raised her hands with a shout of glee.

"There it is, you can't get along without a hatchet."

Just Out Of Jail

She tells with pride of the fact that she is just out of jail. In explanation she said that she went to jail to keep the boys out of hell. She could get out of jail, but the boys could not get out of hell.

PASSENGER TRAIN BADLY WRECKED

Seven Killed; Four Missing and Seventeen Injured.

AWFUL DETAILS

Passenger Coaches and Pullmans Knocked to Splinters at Once.

THEN CATCH FIRE

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)

Xenia, O., July 25.—Seven persons were killed, four missing, and seventeen were injured in last night in a wreck on the Pennsylvania railroad at Trebin. The missing were probably burned in the cars.

Wreck Occurs

The wrecked train was running at a speed of sixty miles an hour when it ran into a flat car laden with coal which had broken from a coal train and which was struck by the passenger on a down grade running at thirty miles per hour.

Engineer Killed

When the trains met the engineer Clark of Xenia, under his engine, burned to a crisp; his fireman, of Cincinnati, name unknown, head crushed, right arm broken and both legs cut off, three unknown passengers, two women and a man burned to death in a Pullman sleeper, and a number of other passengers injured, is the awful story of the wrecking of the Pan-handle limited from St. Louis, east bound to New York, at Trebin Station, a way stop a short distance from Xenia.

Train No. 2 was flying eastward at limited speed when the engine struck a loaded coal-car, which in the darkness had escaped from its siding in Xenia and run down grade to the danger point.

The engine struck it going at full speed and was turned over with Engineer Clark underneath. The postal car, combination car and day coach, impelled by the heavy sleepers behind, piled over the engine. Two Pullmans followed and were laid across the track at right angles. A gas tank under one of the cars exploded, setting fire to the wreck, and the postal car, the coaches and two sleepers were destroyed.

Cries for help could be heard coming from one of the Pullmans, and the helpless on-lookers were compelled to see the two women and one man burned to death before their eyes, unable to lend any aid on account of the fierceness of the flames.

Engine Turns Over.

OPEN LETTER ON ORDER QUESTIONS

MASTER MECHANIC HEATH EXPLAINS DISPUTED SUBJECT.

JANESVILLE NOT TO LOSE

It is Merely a Change of Registration, Beneficial to the Men.

Master Mechanic Heath of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad has written a letter explaining the order of the Northwestern road that has created so much comment and talk. According to Mr. Heath's letter and from the facts gleaned from a personal conversation with him it would appear that on the face of the order, the men most interested have been mistaken.

Mr. Heath takes the pains to explain in detail the object of the order and its purposes. He even goes so far as to explain to the public that no man will be forced to lose his residence in Janesville or move from here unless he wishes to and that if he does another man will be sent here to take his place.

Signed Statement
Mr. Heath's letter is over his own signature and is addressed to the Gazette. Aside from writing the letter Mr. Heath and Mr. P. J. O'Brien made a personal explanation of the whole situation and expressed themselves as willing to answer any questions that might be asked upon the subject. They came to Janesville to straighten out the tangle and explain to the men just what is meant by the order.

Mr. Heath's Letter
Mr. Heath's letter is as follows:
Editor of the Janesville Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir:—I understand that some of the merchants and business men of Janesville are considerably exercised over the permanent assignment of employees to the Nor. Wisconsin Division of the C. & N. W. Ry. thinking that by this change some of the men will be moved away from Janesville. This is to advise you that this change will not affect any of the Janesville men by transferring them to other points.

Should a man go away from Janesville, it will be his own choice, but some other man will be located in his place at Janesville, and should a man move to better his condition, some other fellow will have to be placed at Janesville to keep the numbers good.

Last year a new line was built in Wisconsin, which made additional territory for the Wisconsin Division. Last November the territory was divided. The line between Janesville and Green Bay, Sheboygan and Marshfield, was made into what is known as the Northern Wisconsin Division. All engine and train men in that territory were transferred to the Northern Wisconsin Division. The men who were employed on these engines and runs were temporarily transferred to the Northern Wisconsin Division. The coal, oil and supplies used on the engines and trains in said territory were charged to the Northern Wisconsin Division, also the time of the men and all other expenses.

Our custom of handling the men, giving them employment without partiality is to give the oldest men in rank of age on the road the preference of runs. We do this by bulletining the runs, allowing all men to make application who wish to, and then give the run to the oldest applicant in rank of age. After the establishment of the Northern Wisconsin Division, when a run was bulletined on either Division, the question arose as to the rights of the men. Hence, the permanent transfer of men became necessary, and in order to make a permanent transfer and give the men the benefit of a choice, all engines and runs on the Northern Wisconsin Division service, should be permanently transferred to that Division, taking their rank of age from the Wisconsin Division. After this permanent transfer has been completed the Northern Wisconsin Division men will not be eligible to make application for runs on the Wisconsin Division and vice versa. By doing this, we give every man the choice of a run according to his age and rank.

At Janesville we use about twelve engines and twelve firemen on the extra list. In making the bulletin for extra men, I have bulletined for six extra engines and six extra firemen for the Northern Wisconsin Division. (The number of extra men varies, sometimes we use more extra men than at other times).

The extra men at Janesville are to run on either division. The extra work will be divided with them as nearly as possible, giving them the opportunity to work on either division. This is a point which I understand has been questioned somewhat by some of the Janesville people, and for their information, I wish to say that these extra men will run as they have heretofore, but it is necessary for us to have some of them assigned to the Northern Wisconsin Division, so that their accounts for wages, coal, oil, etc., used will be charged to that division, and then, a very important matter to the man, when a vacancy may occur on either division, the men will know to which division they are assigned, and eligible to make application.

In a nut shell, all changes this permanent assignment of men to the Northern Wisconsin Division will bring about, were practically made last November, with the exception of giving the men a preference of which Division they wished to be assigned to, and the expense for wages, fuel, oil, etc., will be charged to the division they are assigned to.

The writer has been alluding to the Locomotive Department. This same system of permanent assignment of men to the Northwestern Wisconsin Division is being carried out with the train men and men in the operating department. This explanation has been given to you by the writer, that you may know the true facts, and to assure you that the permanent transfer of men to the Northwestern Wisconsin Division is not for the purpose of moving men away from Janesville, but on the contrary, to give the men an opportunity to know which division they were assigned to, thus relieving them of the uneasiness of mind, which often prevents men settling down and establishing a home for themselves and family.

Yours truly,
JOHN HEATH,
Master Mechanic.

P. S.—By the establishment of the Northern Wisconsin Division, it makes Janesville a terminal station for both the Wisconsin Division and the Northern Wisconsin Division, which greater assurance of Janesville's being permanent headquarters for the men.

DRIVERS MUST TAKE THE ROAD

KEEP OFF CURBING ORDER

South Jackson, Street Residents Is—sue a Timely Warning to Horsemen.

Residents on South Jackson street which was opened up to traffic on Wednesday last have made complaint that the drivers of heavy wagons are paying no attention to the fact that the curbing is commonly regarded as the natural limit of the portion of the road which is set apart for the use of heavy traffic wagons, and light vehicles also for that matter.

The macadamized pavement has been so graded that it is carried to the level of the curbing at the cross streets and if the custom of driving beyond this point is continued it will result in great damage to the appearance of the street.

The adjoining property owners have expressed the hope that in the future more care will be taken by the teamsters in order that a large part of the value of the recent improvements may not go for nothing by reason of the indiscriminate driving of the teamsters.

WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Wisconsin Section, for the week ending July 23.

General Remarks: Reports from then orthern and most of the middle counties show a general fine condition of crops, and on the whole the weather was excellent for the securing of the hay harvest. In the southern section, however, continued heavy rains and high winds have delayed the work and especially the cutting and storing of hay. The high temperature tended to ripen all grains, but the badly lodged condition of the grain and the extremely wet soil has greatly retarded the harvest.

Temperatures: Excepting the latter portion of the week, continued high temperatures prevailed over all sections, the minimum generally ranged higher than the previous period, the mean being slightly lower than the preceding week.

Precipitation: Light to heavy and somewhat damaging rains occurred over the southern section of the state; the northern and middle sections, however, have had generally light rains, except storms in localities and some hail fell in the middle section. The storm of the 15th and 16th was unusually severe in the southern counties, but the rainfall was not so heavy as in the preceding week.

Corn: The growth has improved decidedly this week, especially in the northern and middle sections; the stand on low ground is not so favorable. Some complaint in the northern and middle sections of deficient moisture, while in the southern section the rains have been slightly against the growth; some complaint is made of breaking down by the wind.

Oats and Barley: The barley harvest in the northern section is practically completed. In the middle and southern counties harvesting is under way but is much retarded in the southern counties by rain. Oats is a heavy stand and is ripening rapidly. Both crops are badly lodged by heavy winds and rain, and some complaint is made of rust and smut.

Winter Wheat and Rye: The harvest is rapidly approaching completion, but in the southern counties is backward on account of the wet weather; but the crop is heavy, and a general complaint is made of badly lodged condition; some rye is thrashed.

Clover: The hay crop is practically completed and in the northern and middle sections the bulk is secured; while in the southern section the crop is very heavy and the harvest is still much retarded by heavy rains and considerable of that cut is spoiled. The crop is generally fair to heavy.

Potatoes: The early varieties show heavy yield; the late varieties improving rapidly; bugs numerous and destructive.

Tobacco: Is a good stand and growing rapidly but more sunshine is needed for a good development.

Fruit: No improvement shown in apples; berries show a good yield, but in the southern counties it is most on wet. Garden truck is exceedingly thrifty.

Southern Section.

Pt. Washington, Ozaukee county: Hay mostly all cut; corn and potatoes made good headway during the past week; barley and oats are badly lodged.—N. M. Jacobson.

Fredonia, Ozaukee county: Grains lodged considerably; haying almost completed and cutting of barley and rye begun; apple tree blight appearing.—R. Berger.

Darlington, LaFayette county: Oats in a general tumble and ripening slowly; corn making good growth but grassy; considerable grass cut and lying in the field.—John Rogers.

Albany, Green county: Oats badly lodged and quite rusty; little progress made in haying; corn looks well and potatoes are improving steadily.—C. B. Smiley.

GIANT BOILER TO BE USED

ROCK RIVER WOOLEN MILLS MAKE IMPROVEMENTS.

TWO HUNDRED HORSE POWER

The Same Pattern as the One at the Janesville Machine Works.

The Rock River Woolen Mills has ordered a two hundred horse power internal furnace boiler from S. Freeman & Son of Racine, which will be substituted for the present boilers employed in the process of woolen goods manufacture. The boiler is unique in design and is the second to be installed in a factory in this city.

Internal Furnaces
The boiler which is to be placed in the Woolen Mills is of a type that is coming into more general use. Instead of having the furnace below the boiler, and the heat applied from below, the furnace is inside of the boiler. In the particular design that is ordered by the local factory, of two hundred horse power, there are two furnaces, both located within the boiler, and are of the type known as suspension furnaces.

Corrugated Shells
The shells of the furnaces are cylindrical and are corrugated to allow of contraction and expansion of the exposed surface. They are hung a little below the center of the outer boiler shell. The entire boiler is inclosed in an outer layer of asbestos, two inches in thickness.

Will Save Labor
It is believed that the new boiler will mean a great reduction in the amount of labor required to keep it in order. With the present boilers it is necessary almost every Sunday when the works are shut down, to spend several hours in making repairs.

Why Used
The boiler will be employed in a large part directly in the processes of the manufacture of the woolens. It will be used in heating the water for the coloring processes, in scouring and cleansing the wool and the woven cloth and in the heating processes.

Is Not First
A boiler of similar pattern, but of one hundred and fifty horse power and a single furnace is in use in the barbed wire factory. The Janesville Machine Company has placed an order for a similar boiler of three hundred horse power. It was largely through the influence of these two companies that the Woolen Mills company decided on this pattern.

Not Ready Yet
It is not known definitely when the boiler will be delivered, but it is hardly probable with the present rush of orders that it will be at any early date, and it may be that it will be several months before the boiler is installed.

Work in Factory
The factory is working with a full force of eighty five hands, and are struggling to catch up with the orders which are piled up ahead of them. Everything that will be turned out up to the first of September was sold three months ago.

Gentry Bros. Famous Shows United
For almost two score years Gentry Bros.' Famous Shows have been the leading trained animal exhibition of the country, and this year finds the Show twice its former size. A double herd of performing animals is carried, to say nothing of a half dozen or more novel acts which are entirely new in shows of this character.

Gentry Bros.' exhibitions have long been patronized and endorsed by the elite of the land and after many engagements in this city their visit should be a grand success, as all former ones have been. The date of exhibition is announced for Saturday, August 9th at 2:30 and 8 p. m. at the Fair Grounds. Children, 25c; adults, 35c.

OIL TANK READY

Has A Capacity of 17,000 Gallons and is of Iron

The oil tank at the works of the New Gas Light Co. has been completed and is ready for use at any time that it is needed. It is intended as a reserve to hold oil for emergencies if at any time it should become impossible to obtain sufficient quantities during a time of strikes or any block up on the railroads, when it would become necessary for the plant to stop operation. If the oil from which the gas is manufactured could not be obtained.

ENGINE GOES OFF THE TRACK

THE RAILS SPREAD UNDER IT

Buries Its Nose in the Dirt, But Does Not Result in Much Injury.

Yesterday afternoon about a quarter to four as the big switch engine of the Northwestern in charge of Engineer Charles Dougherty was going up the steep grade from the North River street side tracks to the main line of the Madison division, near Knipp's brewery it jumped the track and buried its nose in the bank along side of the main line.

Blocked Traffic

The engine was in such a position that it blocked traffic on the main line of the Madison division from 4 o'clock to 7:30. The main line was finally set over about two feet and the engine pulled back down the hill a short distance. This gave them sufficient room to allow the passenger trains to pass. The passenger trains due here at 7 o'clock were held until the track was cleared. The men finally succeeded in getting the engine back onto the track about nine o'clock.

Rails Spread
The accident was caused by a derailing rail being out of place and the flange of the driver striking it, throwing the engine off the track. A derailing rail is located on this siding at the top of the hill, so if any of the cars get loose and start down the grade they will be thrown off the track before they get down onto River street. It was this rail that caused the trouble.

Little Injury

The only injury done the engine was the breaking off of the running board and the knocking off of the cylinder cocks.

An Unnecessary Warning.
Over in Holland when they speak of an automobile they call it a suelpaardaloonderspoorwegpetroolryng. A traveler who has just returned from that country says that one day as he was walking along one of the country roads between Amsterdam and The Hague, an excited woman ran out of a house and called to her little son, who was playing in the highway:

"Hendrik, come out of the roadway! Here comes a suelpaardaloonderspoorwegpetroolryng—never mind. It's gone now."

Thelma

"Thelma," Mr. Chas. V. Chase's dramatization of Marie Corelli's well-known novel of the same name will be presented by Alden Benedict's excellent company at the Myers Grand, tonight. "Thelma," far surpasses any of Mr. Benedict's successes. The scenery and electrical effects are wonderful and nothing like them has ever before been produced upon any stage. All who have read "Thelma," will be anxious to see the drama, for Mr. Chase has left none of the interesting scenes unnoticed. No expense has been spared in obtaining the best talent for this production and the costumes of the ladies are said to be creations of beauty.

The doctor sometimes passes a harder sentence than the judge. But the sentence of the doctor is more often set aside or overruled than that of the judge. In the case of Mrs. Reyecraft given below, the doctor sentenced her to about eighteen years of physical punishment and misery. But she rebelled against the sentence, and commenced the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In a few weeks she was a well woman.

It's a peculiarity of the cures effected by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they are generally cures of chronic diseases. A woman suffers with diseases peculiar to her sex, she takes medical treatment, gets no better, and has no hope held out to her of improvement. Then in her discouragement she turns to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and finds a prompt and lasting cure. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Rev. Milton Wells has secured through the agency of Mr. Henry Pepper, a champion oil burner. These burners can be put in any stove or heater and take the place of natural gas, the cost of running these burners is much less than any other kind of fuel and are giving perfect satisfaction wherever tried. Mr. Pepper has been fortunate enough to secure the agency for the town of Plymouth for handling these goods.

The ball game here last Saturday resulted in a score of 9 to 2, not in favor of the home team. Our boys were scheduled to play the Orfordville nine, but when the game was called, only two players were represented from Orfordville, the rest of the team being made up of Brodhead players, hence the score. Our home team has played five games and won three and have not paid one dollar for hired players. The home team now are very anxious to play Orfordville for a purse.

Mrs. Will Richards is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Oliver, from Kansas.

AFTON
Afton, July 24.—A petition is being circulated in this vicinity, which will, in due season, be presented to the Janesville city authorities, asking that the piece of road from Western avenue to the Sevenoaks farm, be put in better condition. This is something that has been agitated by the people living south of the city, on the west side of the river, for a number of years, for this piece of road, especially around the hill by the high-board fence, is in very bad shape. It is to be hoped that Janesville will heed this request and see to it that the highway in question is put in proper repair at once.

STEEL INDUSTRY.

The phenomenal development of the iron and steel industry of the United States led the British Iron Trade Association to appoint a commission last year to inquire into the industrial conditions and competition of the United States. The report of that commission which has been recently presented is briefly reviewed by the London "Commercial Intelligence," a copy of which has just reached the Treasury Bureau of Statistics. It says:

"It is indeed a marvellous, and, to the British manufacturer and trader, in some respects a most discouraging story. The British Iron Trade Commission gives details of the mineral resources of the United States as affecting that fundamental industry—the manufacture of iron and steel; show the extraordinary richness of the principal fields of coal, iron ore, and kindred minerals and demonstrate by concrete examples, how the natural inventiveness of the American has enabled him to apply to the operations of production and distribution a wealth of original ideas and methods that are as yet little known in Europe. It is also made manifest how on land, on lake, on river, and on canal, the American people have applied their minds to the solution of conditions and problems of cheap transport until they have at last attained a level of rates and charges such as we have hardly had any experience of on this side of the Atlantic. It is not, however, to be supposed that the triumph of the American people in these matters have been achieved without effort. Much testimony is borne to the fact that in the conditions of organization and administration, in their dealings with labor, in the confidence and enterprise with which they have embarked on industrial operations of great magnitude, in the efforts made to adapt themselves to new conditions, in the eagerness to create new demands both at home and abroad, and in the care and attention given to the successful cultivation of foreign markets, the American people have labored strenuously for many years, until labour, ingenuity, and enterprise have become their most distinguished characteristics. When one has appreciated all that the Americans have done for themselves, it is neither natural or reasonable to grudge them the success which has attended their labours."

TIME FOR UNITY.

With the candidacy of Burr W. Jones of Madison seriously thought of for the nominee for Governor on the democratic ticket it is time for the republicans of the state to join in unity to fight the one common enemy. Democracy can not be permanently downed. Like the cat with nine lives it bobs up every once in a while and demands recognition and sometimes gets it. When it does it goes in with a landslide. Republicans are swept away by the score and democrats are placed in office by their party, men they never expected to be elected or they would not have been nominated.

Democracy believes that the republican ranks are broken, that internal dissension has weakened the column that has rolled up Republican victory after victory for the past eight years. Men like Vilas, like Jones, like Bird, like Rogers, like Warden are ready to put their shoulders to the wheel and fight for a chance to win.

Republicans do not want to rely on past victories. Do not want to shout on the personal magnetism of a leader who opposes Wisconsin's greatest son in his return to the Senate. They must all fight. Must all take off their coats and fight for the principles the party was founded on and upon which it based its power in past years. It doesn't mean that the friends of Senator Spooner should sit quietly back and concede defeat. They must work. Must actually put in good solid Hicks for the great man and assure his return to the senate by nominating assemblymen and state senators who will vote for him first, last and all the time, regardless of whether he adheres to the state platform or not. Then, when that is done, let them turn to and elect a Republican Governor. Let them show the surprised ranks of Democracy that Republicans in Wisconsin are not split in parts by social dissension.

Republicans of Wisconsin are made of the stuff that heroes are made of and they will not bolt or sit quietly back and see the democrats carry off the pudding with all the plums, you may be sure. Unity, however, is a necessity. Unity is strength.

A NOVEL

Chap. 1.—Captain Putnam, Bradlee Strong falls in love with May Yohe, an actress, then known as Lady Hope.

Chapt. 2.—He resigns his commission in the army to go with her to Japan. Here he spends all his money.

Chapt. 3.—They return to America. Live near New York and are in straightened circumstances.

Chapt. 4.—Strong disappears. May Yohe declares he has stolen hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of diamonds. His family make good the loss to avoid scandal.

Chapt. 5.—Strong appears in London. Says he comes to England to avoid Yohe. That Yohe is mad because he left her and that he did not steal the diamonds.

Chapt. 6.—May Yohe sails very hurriedly for Paris.

Chapt. 7.—Will they meet in Paris and spend the money they obtained from Strong's family on the bluff, or is it all on the square?

Janesville is not to lose its population of railroad men. The North-Western road has sent officials to Janesville to assure the citizens that the orders have been misunderstood. Well, Janesville is glad of that. Is glad that the officials can assure the people that their new orders were not properly read, when it means that old residents must leave their homes to help build up another town. The merchants will be glad too, for railroad men are good payers and spend their money freely. They are good citizens too, and their loss would mean much to the city.

Cromwell was also a dictator but Cromwell's power was exerted for the public weal.—Wisconsin State Journal.

What can the State Journal mean? Is it possible that at last its editor sees the Official State Paper slugging from the head of its editorial column? Once it had to send it to the Milwaukee Journal. Where will it go this time? To The Free Press?

Oshkosh still comes to the front with sailing crafts. Now it is the Hornet that wins. If Sir Thomas wants a first-class racer, one that will go no matter who sails it, let him try Oshkosh. He can name the boat any old name after he gets it, the makers won't care, but we might suggest that Oshkosh would be a good one and would keep the English guessing, whether the city was on the Ohio or Mississippi rivers. Those are the only ones they know over there.

Chicago has a new mystery in the loss of money from the safety deposit vault. From now on, one may expect to see Chicago bookmakers going to and from the track with long knitted stockings, like "mother used to use."

The death of John W. Mackay ends the long life of bonanza kings who reigned supreme in California in early days. Mackay was in truth a king and made a kingly use of his money.

Chicago papers have been free with their advice to Wisconsin Republicans. Some way Illinois never seems to go just the way the self-same Chicago dailies would have it trot.

Iowa holds the belt. The rain belt and it cost it $6,000,000 to secure it. No one else wants it. Iowa is safe from challenges.

Oshkosh is to be a slippery town from now on. A castor oil factory is to be established there.

PRESS COMMENT.

Wisconsin Republicans Up in Arms

Michigan Republicans will naturally be shocked and surprised at the independence and sincerity which could induce a majority of the delegates to Wisconsin's Republican state convention to vote for such a platform as was presented to it last night. That platform not only undertook to demand certain things of a United States senator, but it took to task party members of the legislature who had betrayed the party pledges relating to taxation reform and the enactment of a direct primary election law, besides scoring federal officeholders for their pernicious activities in assisting lobbyists to defeat these measures, which had been promised by the platform of two years ago. It also specifically demanded that every candidate for either house of the legislature, be required to commit himself definitely to the principles enunciated.

The cause of this extraordinary act is to be found in a situation closely resembling that which Pingree created in Michigan Gov. LaFollette was nominated and elected on a platform demanding tax and primary reform. These demands were its chief planks. Corporation agents fearful of the tax clause, and bosses large and small, particularly those whose services had been rewarded with federal appointments, united to prevent the fulfillment of either pledge. They succeeded in preventing any tax legislation whatsoever, and in so torturing the primary bill that the governor scornfully vetoed it.

Losing his fight with the legislature, Gov. LaFollette determined to appeal to the people in such form as to make another betrayal exceedingly difficult, if not impossible. Senator Spooner, who so far, as national issues are concerned, is undoubtedly the choice of a practically unanimous party, has attempted to remain neutral in the contest for the election of delegates to the convention now in session, although many of his appointees were working tooth and nail against the state administration and had been employed in obstructing its plans and defeating the purposes for which it was elected. That is why the successful LaFollette forces demand that he stand on the state platform.

The vote on the platform, adopting its censures and ignoring its demands and pledges, was 709 1-2 to 353 1-2, which seems to indicate that the rank and file of the party were in earnest in their former declarations and that they are prepared to deal with the Wisconsin Atwoods, Gordons Holmeses and Earles.—Detroit Evening News.

Wisconsin State Journal: The State (the weekly newspaper which is supposed to most intimately represent Gov. LaFollette) refers pleasantly to a recent editorial in the State Journal as:

"The bedlamite gyrations of an over-educated peanut brain, maudlin mutterings of a bemuddled mind, excruciating excretions of abortive intellect, a besmirching attack upon the chief executive, vain, rapid vapors of numb-skull eccentricity, an idiotic idiosyncrasy, a wanton contortion of the proceedings, a hybrid attempt at bifurcation, a mangled and emasculated representation of convention deliberations, morbid musings upon its acts, monstrous misrepresentations of the convention."

We knew insanity is on the increase but we didn't realize what a letting down there is in the quality of the demention.

Milwaukee News: "God save the commonwealth!" The Madison Journal exclaims, as it views the work of the "reform" machine. The Journal needn't worry; the voters will attend to the machine in due time and save the commonwealth from going to wreck.

Fond du Lac Reporter: Now that the political battle in Madison is over the delegates say that Madison is no place to hold a big convention. Yet they did not find as much fault during the convention with the accommodations as they did with the political accommodation.

Stevens Point Journal: It is to be regretted that the late convention was so busy trying to humiliate Senator Spooner that it found no time to commend the army that has been so bravely fighting the country's battles and upholding the flag in the Philippines.

Record-Herald: When you're well and working, you fuss because you can't rest. When you're sick and resting, you fuss because you can't work. All of which goes to show that only babies and dogs have sense.

LaCrosse Chronicle: There is no split in the Republican party in Wisconsin; there was a small silver, but that has been played down.

SPOONER COMMENT.

Eau Claire Leader: The convention just adjourned, made a serious mistake in not giving Mr. Spooner an unconditional indorsement. The people are already expressing their dissatisfaction. There will be a reaction when the masses realize the possibility of losing his services. If ever a man deserved well at the hands of his countrymen, that man is Spooner. Those who voted for the resolution respecting himself, will be ashamed of their action before the month has expired.

Sheboygan Journal: The worth and value of Senator Spooner's services are recognized throughout the land and it remains for peanut politicians and caucus packing ward heeler to set a price on their support of a man whose abilities are demanded by a nation. Retribution is bound to follow. The people seeing farther than the confines of a ward or even a state, will rise up mightily and demand the senator's return in spite of the pettifoggery practice of political harlots.

Appleton Crescent: Then the convention committee harried by the mean insult to Senator Spooner, asking him to stultify and demean himself as a condition for support and re-election. Instead of giving him their hearty support, unqualified approval and demand for his continuance in the position whereby he has become not only a national object of admiration for great diplomatic ability, but internationally great as well.

Lodi Valley News: It will require vigilance and determination on the part of Mr. Spooner's friends to save him from being turned down in the legislature next winter. No half-way or milk-and-water campaign will be of any avail. It's a fight—a battle royal—which alone can win. The whole country is amazed at the action of the convention, and, to save the good name of the state, Mr. Spooner must be re-elected.

Superior Leader: Douglas county has the power to elect a state senator who will have a voice in the election of a United States senator to succeed Mr. Spooner. It is of vital importance that this state senator should be a man of known fidelity to Senator Spooner, that no possible questions as to his action in the Republican caucus can be raised. This same is true as to members of the assembly.

Eau Claire Telegram: Perhaps it will help to break the spell if somebody will rise up and call attention to the fact that Senator Spooner could still, if he wanted to, come out as a candidate without standing on the Madison platform.

Neenah Times: The feeling in this city among the Stalwarts and also many of the Half-Breeds is very bitter against the LaFollette convention over the turning down of Hon. John C. Spooner.

ELKS MAY HOLD A CARNIVAL

TALK OF A BIG STREET SHOW
AUGUST 18.

WILL BE DECIDED TONIGHT

Showman Here Today to Present
Plans for the Monster Attraction.

Indians from the plains; Arabs from Sahara; Turks direct from their native beach; Romans in their glided chariots; cow boys from the ranches; Japanese from their island homes; Chinese from the flowery kingdoms; Bushmen and Filipinos; may all be seen wandering about the streets of Janesville, on August 18, that is if present plans do not miscarry.

Janesville has the chance to have a street carnival. People from the radius of 100 miles about the country are to be invited in to see the wonders of the great and only shows that ever existed—in the mouths of the barbers of the attraction. Farmers lads and their sweethearts can walk hand in hand down the long rows of side shows and eat peanuts and drink pink lemonade to their hearts' content. That is the alluring prospectus that is set forth by J. S. Berger, general manager of The Morris & Berger Mighty Midway and Carnival company.

Mr. Berger is in the city today. This evening he is to lay the plans before the Elks' lodge at a special session at 7:30, then later he will tell his alluring plans to the business men at their meeting at 8 o'clock. He is a good talker and will probably convince the two meetings that a street carnival is just what the city needs. Just what is wanted to bring all the farmers and residents of small towns, for miles around, into Janesville, to see and enjoy the beauties of Rock county's power.

An Elk Show.

The present plans are that the Janesville lodge of Elks father the plan. That the direct benefit be turned into the coffers of the local lodge and that they be responsible for the whole affair. Among the Elks the plan has met with approval. May or Richardson has said that he is in favor of it, and prominent members of the order are today talking matters over with business men and others, to find the general sentiment.

Fifteen Shows.

Mr. Berger says that his show or series of shows, number fifteen. All different, all new and all startling. No vulgar or indecent exhibit in the whole lot. He and his partner make a specialty of giving these carnivals and they have the entire performance under as able a management as are the big circuses.

Bands Galore.

Aside from the general shows, there are to be bands galore. A night parade, curiosities from far away countries and curios to buy that are rare. There are streets of Cairo, and confettionists. German villages and wild Filipinos. Fire dancers and elephants. Everything that can be imagined are promised by the glib tongue of Mr. Berger.

Decide Tonight.

Whether Janesville is to have a carnival is to be decided tonight. Mr. Berger says that is will benefit the town. He has stacks of posters that show where the shows have been and what the exhibits are.

He is enthusiastic and says that the railways will give special rates for the occasion for all points within a hundred miles radius.

ENTERTAINED BY TRIO OF LADIES

PLEASANT PRIVATE PARTY AT THE GOLF CLUB HOUSE.

A DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL EVENT

Mrs. George E. King, Mrs. A. L. McIntosh and Harriet Carpenter were the hostesses.

Unusually pleasing appointments and a sunshiny day conspired with charming hospitality, to make the euchre party given by Mrs. George E. King, Mrs. A. L. McIntosh and Miss Harriet Carpenter at the Mississippi golf club house yesterday afternoon one of the most delightful social events of the season.

The golf club house is an ideal place for social gatherings and an afternoon spent amid such pleasant surroundings where there is always a refreshing breeze no matter how oppressively hot it is in the city, is sufficient delight in itself. The guests of yesterday found sincere enjoyment in sitting on the broad porch which was liberally provided with rockers and easy seats, and admiring the restful, beautiful view of the surrounding country.

The interior of the club house was also very attractive. Draperies of the national colors and great bunches of sun flowers, black-eyed Susans, nasturtiums and sweet peas, making a handsomely effective background for the pleasing picture made by the ladies in their dainty summer gowns.

The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Henry Rogers of Viroqua, who is visiting Mrs. McIntosh. About one hundred and twenty-five guests were cordially greeted by the receiving party after which the afternoon was devoted to playing six-handed euchre. Every one entered heartily into the merry spirit of the occasion and the games were accompanied by much incidental amusement. The first prize, a handsome picture offered for the highest score, was won by Mrs. N. L. Carle and Mrs. Mae Dellinger, of Peoria, Ill., received the lucky number prize.

The card playing was followed by the serving of a dainty two-course luncheon. The service was especially pretty, nasturtiums being laid on each plate with the first course and sweet peas accompanying the sherbet. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mesdames H. H. Bliss, C. B. Bostwick, C. H. Gage, Mary Doty and Albert Tallmadge and Miss Mabel Jackson.

During the latter part of the afternoon exquisite music was furnished by the Italian orchestra, the musicians being seated on the porch, and the concert program was greatly appreciated by the guests who lingered into the early evening to enjoy the music and the other charming manifestations of hospitality.

Among the guests from out of the city were Mrs. Henry Rogers, Viroqua; Mrs. James C. Willmarth, El Paso, Tex.; Mrs. Mae Dellinger, Peoria, Ill.; Mrs. F. M. Hanchett, La Crosse; Mrs. George Mason, Chicago; Miss Lotta Bowen, Monroe, and Miss Harriet Spencer, Joliet, Ill.

In the evening the hostesses and those who assisted them were joined by a small company of gentlemen and a pleasant informal dancing party was held.

REMEMBER TONIGHT

The citizens of Janesville who are anxious to promote business enterprises here should not forget the business men's meeting this evening at the municipal court room. The proposition that Mr. Newman has to offer is one of great interest to this city.

If you have been a stranger to the flavor given by using O. D. Bates' pure spices, get acquainted. There is nothing but spice—no woody (perhaps poisonous) adulteration—just purity—just spice.

Picnic goodies must be fresh and dainty to be toothsome and delicious. O. D. Bates makes a specialty of luscious picnic eatables—all the good substantial standbys and the greatest abundance of dainty "side lines" that you'll find in town. Send your basket; we'll fill it most temptingly.

It is believed that the end of Capt. Streeter's fight to possess the lake front in Chicago will end today.

TELEPHONE MEN AT WORK AGAIN

THEY RETURNED TO THEIR DUTY
THIS MORNING.

HAD NO PERSONAL GRIEVANCE

Decided They Were Under No Obligation to Join a Sympathetic Strike.

This morning Edward Barron, inspector and James Frazer, troubleman for the Wisconsin Telephone Co., returned to work after a two days' vacation spent in considering whether they should comply with the order received from Milwaukee requesting them to declare a local strike in sympathy with the striking telephone men of the state.

The men have decided that it will not aid them to quit work as long as they have no personal grievance and that, not being union men, they are under no obligation to sacrifice their own interests for the sake of a cause which they do not believe they would be helping in any way. They are heartily in sympathy with the union and ready to aid it in any way.

Men Satisfied.

On the other hand, however, they are perfectly satisfied with conditions in this city. In fact Stephen Welch, of the other interested employees of the Wisconsin telephone company refused to quit work at all in response to the order from Milwaukee. The other two felt, at first, that it was their duty to express their sympathy with the striking union men by complying with the order which they received on Tuesday evening.

Went Out Wednesday

On Wednesday morning they went to Manager Slater, explained the situation to him and stated that they had decided to quit work, although personally they had no fault to find with him or with the company. Manager Slater advised them to take a little time and consider the matter carefully before they made a definite decision.

Men Satisfied

This the men have done and they have come to the decision that by quitting work they would be injuring themselves and they could not see how it would aid the union men throughout the state. They reported this decision to Manager Slater and he was perfectly willing to meet them half way. Consequently the men returned to work this morning, both parties satisfied. There never has been any trouble between Manager Slater and the men and the little labor cloud on the local horizon was entirely of foreign manufacture. It has been completely dispelled and all is serene once more.

MILITIA GREET THE PRESIDENT

PRAISE FOR STATE SOLDIERS

Chief Executive Tells the Troops in Case of War the Federal Government Must Depend on Them—Gets a Warm Reception.

Sea Girt, N. J., July 25.—No president ever received a more sincere, heartfelt and patriotic welcome than that accorded to President Roosevelt by the people of New Jersey. The president, on invitation of Governor Franklin Murphy, visited the encampment of the second brigade of the national guard at Sea Girt.

Ten thousand people greeted the presidential party at the Sea Girt station. President Roosevelt and the other distinguished guests were escorted in carriages to the governor's cottage, adjoining the military encampment. As he arrived at the cottage a president's salute of twenty-one guns was fired. After a brief rest and an informal reception President Roosevelt and Governor Murphy and staff reviewed the troops in camp, the president being mounted on a magnificent chestnut bay. At the conclusion of the review Mr. Roosevelt was escorted to a stand adjoining the parade ground and there addressed the assembled troops and the multitude.

Address of President.

In opening his address, President Roosevelt complimented the National Guardsmen of New Jersey upon their soldierly bearing and proficiency, and continued:

"A man is of use as a national guardsman for just exactly the same reasons as he is of use as a citizen; and that is if he sets to work with his whole heart to do his duty for the time being, to make himself thoroughly proficient in the line of the business he has taken up. A national guardsman who joins only to have a good time pretty generally does not have a good time, and certainly makes a poor hand at being a guardsman."

"I earnestly hope and believe you never will get into battle, but if you do, it is going to be mighty important to hit the other fellow; and you are going to be able to do it largely in consequence of the way you have put in your time, knowing your rifle until it is just part of yourself, until you can handle it, take care of it and use it. It has been the pride of the American army in the past that our troops have always used their rifles efficiently. We have prided ourselves upon having an army of marksmen. Our army has given us a just pride in it, because its constant and zealous effort has been to take care of itself in the field and in all that pertains to the duties of a soldier."

Should Have National Aid.

"I think, gentlemen, that much help can be given to the national guards of the states by the action of the United States government. I want to see the national guard armed with the best and most modern weapons. I want to see the infantry with the Krag-Jorgensen, and I want to see the artillery with the three-point-two gun of the regular army. I am happy to say that a bill has been passed through the lower house which will enable the national government to materially aid the national guard of the different states. At the next session I firmly believe that we will get it through the United States senate, and then I can guarantee the signature of the president."

"I think that our people have not always appreciated the debt they were under to the national guard. A man who goes into the national guard and does his duty fairly and squarely there puts the whole country under an obligation to him. Always in our history it has been the case, as it will be in the future, that if war should arise it is to be met mainly by the citizen-soldiers—the volunteer soldier. We have in the regular army, officered as it is and filled with the type of enlisted men we had in it, an army which I firmly believe, for its size, is unequalled in the civilized world, and I am sure that I can challenge the most generous support from the national guard for the regular army of the United States."

Praises Militia.

"But that army is, and of necessity must be, so small that, in the event of serious trouble in the future, the great bulk of our troops must come, as in the past they have come, from the ranks of the people themselves; and in forming those regiments the good done by the presence in them of men who have served faithfully in the national guard cannot be overestimated. Those men are ready. They know what is expected of them. They train others to do the work that is needed. And another thing, ladies and gentlemen, the same qualities that make a man a success, that make him do his duty decently and honestly in a national guard regiment, are fundamentally the qualities that he needs to make him a good citizen in private life."

"No doubt some of you were in the Spanish-American war. The only trouble with that war was that there was not enough war to go around."
